

A detailed illustration of a salmon leaping from a stream at night. The salmon is in the foreground, its body arched and mouth open, showing its teeth. The water is dark blue with white foam from the leap. In the background, a forest of evergreen trees lines the stream, and a full moon hangs in the dark sky.

Salmon Stream

By Carol Reed-Jones
Illustrations by Michael S. Maydak

Chugachmiut

HERITAGE PRESERVATION

1840 Bragaw Street, Suite 110
Anchorage, Alaska 99508-3463